This data is incontrovertible, but it is fair to say that the great New York public turning out for the day in the early hours found the weather more bearable than it was at corresponding hours a day before. EASTERN PARK, BROOKYLN, June 12.-Humidity was of no account when weighed against the attractiveness of such baseball as Brooklyn has been furnishing for the cranks, and a goodly throng of the faithful gathered this afternoon prepared for a repetition of yesterday's old-fashioned, heavy-hitting ase-running game. Latham, the recognized jestor of the diamond, was sure to furnish fun enough to offset any deficiencies in the game, and long before the bell sounded for play the dude and the bleachers were en rapport, owing to his quips and jibes:

Umpire Eimslie made his debut this season on the Polo Grounds yesterday, and his work was admirable.

President Pat Powers of the Eastern League, is receiving the condolences of his many friends for the loss of his wife, who died yesterday.

This is from Mr. Dunn's own instru-ments, and had better be relied upon, as the beer saloon thermometers are manu-factured by the breweries, and they have no conscience. A Sixth avenue saloon-keeper has his mercury nalled at 124, and keeps pipe line connections with his brewer. Fred an Zant, the keen young ballplayer of the Oritani Field Club nine,
is sure to make his mark as a financier one of these days. What he doesn't know about playing the Oritani Club officials isn't worth knowing. Van Zant is an expert, too, in working both ends of the string, as will be remembered when two years ago he signed with New an amateur (?) with the Staten Island club. On the floor of the Stock Exchange this time $150 was raised to "persuade" Van Zant to remain with the Oritanis.

Although still sixth in the list of League standing, Brooklyn has steadily drawn nearer the leaders, and a matter of very few games is the gap between the Bridegrooms and the third place.

Those who saw Umpire Swartwood's work of a week or so ago and who attended yesterday's game at Eastern Park could hardly believe that a mistake had not been made in posting the name on the board. His decisions on balls, atrikes and plays left absolutely nothing to be desired, and, excepting one instance, gave no room for even a gentle "kick" on the part of either team. the conclusion of the ceremonies the corps was marched back to the barracks, where the new cadet officers appointed by Col. Mills were announced as follows: Capts. Ames. Bigelow. Smith and Hawkins: Lieuts. White. Fleming. Bugge, Darrah, Siviter, Pritchard, C. H. Paine and Stout.

The boys were then permitted to break ranks, and a perfect bediam followed. Some, while yet clad in their dress suits, were thrown into the large swimming tank in the gymnasium, and others had their clothes torn from them. At 2.30 the graduates in the furlough class left on the Albany day boat for New York. The two remaining classes went into camp this afternoon.

Clarence E. Lang. the ninth member in the graduating class, was quietly married to Miss Mamie Kenkle, immediately after he donned his "cite" following the graduating ceremony. The marriage took place at the rectory of the Church of the Sacred Heart, and was performed by Rev. Father O'Keefe. Lang was appointed from Tiffin, O., and his bride is a daughter of Sergt. Kenkle, a West Point soldier. Considerable surprise was expressed over the suddenness of the marriage.
